New Year, new Look

With our latest release, we have completely remodelled the look of the oneclick™ Workspace Provisioning and Streaming Platform. The newly designed frontend boasts pleasant, fresh forms and colours.

The first change users will notice is the upgraded log-in page, with its modern and characteristic design. After log-in, the changes on the oneclick™ Desk attract the users' attention. Aside from a well-thought-out tile design, a sidebar menu has been added, which collects messages, contains information and offers direct configuration options. Thanks to the clear layout of the interface, users always keep an overview of what is most important. Additionally, users profit from improved operability and a new, intuitive kind of user guidance, which make set-up and mobile working even more convenient and productive.
