oneclick AG Selected to Join PwC's Scale-up Programme

oneclick AG, the provider of secure digital workspaces in the cloud, has been accepted onto PwC's current Scale-up programme. The participation in the initiative will encourage and allow oneclick to grow and scale-up significantly as a business.

The twelve-week programme based in Reading, kicked off in January 2019 and involves 10 Scale-ups, 20+ industry experts and 40+ interested and supporting corporates. The programme that is also sponsored by Oxford Innovation, has three core components which will help oneclick AG to scale. Its curated events give founders the opportunity to meet and pitch to an extended network of various industry decision makers and to drive commercial opportunities. Group masterclasses provide insights to best practices through a combination of PwC and industry experts, as well as through learning from shared peer experiences. Individual support, including coaching, business support and other bespoke advice is also all included.

Dominik Birgelen, CEO, oneclick AG commented on the participation opportunity: "We are delighted to have been selected for PwC's Scale-up programme. As a business we are going through a very important period of growth. This opportunity has already allowed us to receive valuable knowledge through masterclasses led by industry experts and also leverage PwC's network to connect with industry leaders. 2019 is set to be a significant year in the growth of oneclick AG and we look forward to the boost that the programme will bring."

James Heath, Scale-up programme lead at PwC, said: "The Thames Valley is a rapidly developing region for entrepreneurs and scale-up businesses, with a thriving technology market and ecosystem. For this reason, we've located our National Technology Hub in Reading, which brings the best of PwC to our technology clients, enabling us to share and pool knowledge, industry insight and best practice. Through our Scale-up Programme with Oxford Innovation, we offer the opportunity for accelerated growth and connect aspiring young companies to industry leaders. We are excited to welcome oneclick AG as one of this years promising scale-up businesses."
