Freddy Dezeure becomes a new member of oneclick's Board of Directors

oneclick is pleased to announce that Freddy Dezeure is joining the Board of the Group as non-executive Director.

Freddy Dezeure was the founder and Head of the Computer Emergency Response Team of the EU institutions, bodies and agencies ("CERT-EU") from 2011 until 2017, supporting the protection of more than 60 organisations with more than 100,000 users. Since June 2017, he is an independent management consultant providing strategic advice in cyber-security and cyber-risk management and acting as board member and advisory board member in several high-tech companies. He is also a frequent speaker at major cyber-security conferences and a respected thought leader in the community.

Freddy Dezeure says: "I'm convinced oneclick is offering a clever solution to a real problem of deploying and securing corporate applications with flexible access anywhere and anytime. I am looking forward to investing time in our joint success".

"We are delighted to have Freddy on Board, we value his feedback and his commitment as a high-caliber personality. We are very much looking forward to our future collaboration", says Dominik Birgelen, CEO of oneclick AG. "This is another important step to ensure maximum trust in our company and our solution by large enterprises and public authorities."
